Women in PowerShell / DevOps

Women in PowerShell/DevOps Virtual Event Registration October 2020

Amber and Sydney from the PowerShell Team at Microsoft will be hosting a virtual event on Thursday, October 22nd from 9am-11am PDT to build community amongst women in DevOps.

The event will include guest speakers and opportunities for connection and discussion.

This event is a welcome place for all female-identifying folks regardless of experience/time in the DevOps space.

Please look forward to a follow-up email with more information about the event.

Please note: Any information provided will only be used for the purposes of this event and will be delete afterwards.

For any questions please reach out to: sysmith@microsoft.com

24 Hours of PowerShell & DevOps

24 Hours of PowerShell & DevOps

Posted by James Petty August 3, 2020 DevOps, Events, PowerShell for Admins 2 Comments

The DevOps Collective, in conjunction with the organizers of PSConf Asia and PSConf Day UK, would like to announce a new event...the Global PowerShell & DevOps Conference – Online. With the cancellation of major PowerShell-related conferences including the PowerShell + DevOps Global Summit and PSConf Asia, all three organizing groups were looking at doing some sort of mini-events. Instead of three groups working independently of each other on three different virtual events (all of which would have the same audience), we decided to pool our resources and together produce a 24-hour live stream of the best PowerShell & DevOps content that we can find.
